

Recent events in the markets - labor, food, and supply chains - have created resourcing challenges that make it difficult to accept all the requests typically received by our department. Our team of professionals will make every effort to accommodate all in the Dickinson community: departments, offices, students, faculty, and staff. Keeping an eye on group priority, criticality to the college, flexibility in dates of service, flexibility in types of service, and volume of campus activities, our team will strd.2a D3(vit)-3(ies g39.82 hm43., our) team will